Dear Susan:

Thank you for introducing Futures for Kids (F4K) to Weldon City Schools—I look forward to implementing this terrific program for our students' benefit.

As a community, the most important challenge we face is educating our children. With today's rapidly changing technology, their futures offer a wider variety of choices than most of us can keep up with, yet we are tasked with guiding them through the process of choosing well and planning wisely. Through F4K, the students have access to extensive occupational profiles in every conceivable career area and the extraordinary benefit of Career Coaches—experts in their field who are there to answer the students' questions and explain their options. In addition, students can connect with employers in their potential fields of study and explore the possibilities open to them right here in our own community.

I have often said it takes the combined efforts of the schools, parents, and the community at large to produce well-rounded students who can fulfill their potential. Through F4K, we have an opportunity to maximize the impact of our efforts, and I invite our community to join me in supporting our students' successful futures through F4K.

Sincerely,
